DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1, 10 are objected to because of the following informalities:

In claim 1: Typo problem "follosteps" in line 3 and ("one") and ("two") in lines 4-5 are not required.

In claim 10: ("one") and ("two") in lines 4 and 6 are not required.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 2 and 3 recite the limitation "in the step (a) each object transceiver" in line 6. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

In claim 4 recite "a portable object operating according to any one of the preceding claims" in lines 3-4 is unclear.

Dependent claim 5 is rejected for the same reason as set forth above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

1. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Radomsky et al. (6,211,790).

Regarding claims 1 and 6, Radomsky et al. disclose an infant and parent matching and security system and method of matching infant and parent comprising the steps of: transmitting successive data packet to the reader (see fig.2, elements 20, 30, 34, col.6, lines 24-26); upon termination of a transmission of each said data packets, open a time window for receiving a transmission from the reader (see fig. 26a-f, col.13, lines 5-26).

Regarding claims 2 and 7, Radomsky et al. further disclose the object transceiver is one of a plurality of object transceivers each worn by a person to whom a short message is to be transmitted and each having a respective unique ID and being able to effect autonomous transmission to reader (see fig.1-2, elements 20, 29, 30, 32, col.5, line 27-col.6, 23), and in step (a) each object transceiver transmits for a negligible fraction of its duty cycle thereby reducing a likelihood that two or more object transceivers will try to transmit simultaneously (see fig.22a-d, col.11, line 66-col.12, line 24).

Regarding claims 3 and 8, Radomski et al. further disclose the object transceiver is one of a plurality of object transceivers each worn by a person to whom a short message is to be transmitted and each having a respective unique ID and being able to effect autonomous transmission to reader (see fig.1-2, elements 20, 29, 30, 32, col.5, line 27-col.6, 23), and in step (a) each object transceiver has a randomly variable duty cycle thereby reducing a likelihood that two or more object transceivers will try to transmit simultaneously (see fig.23a-c, col.12, lines 25-43).

Regarding claims 4 and 9, Radomsky et al. disclose an infant and parent matching and security system and method of matching infant and parent comprising a server connected to a plurality of readers in order to send a message using IR data communication to a portable object transceiver operating according to any one of the preceding claims, said method comprising the following steps carries out by at least one of said readers (see fig.2, elements 24, 20, 30, and its description): awaiting receipt of a transmission from said portable object transceiver of a data packets (see fig.18, fig.25, elements 20, 34, 612, 614 and its description), and during the time window opened thereby, sending the message to the portable object transceiver from respective reader in communication with the object transceiver (see fig.25, elements 622, 626, col.12, lines 57-65 and fig.26a-f, col.13, lines 5-26).

Regarding claims 5 and 10, Radomski et al. further disclose the step of locating respective reader in communication with the portable objective transceiver (see col.2, lines 51-57, and col.6, lines 40-53) and sending the message from server to the respective reader for onward transmission to the portable object transceiver (see col.6, line 40-col.7, line 3).

Conclusion

2. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Shore (6,225,906) featuring a patient monitoring and alarm system.

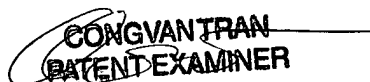

Art Unit: 2683

- Heller (6,154,139) featuring a method and system for locating subjects within a tracking environment.
